How did products from 303® come to be? Well, if you're looking for some drawn out explanation from a biochemist describing molecular binding and reactions, you've come to the wrong place. We save the scientific jargon for our chemists.

Before the birth of any 303® products there came a brand, and before a brand there came an idea. That idea started taking flight in 1980. Literally.

The problem? How do we prevent condensation from freezing on the rubber boots of small aircrafts at higher altitudes? Though this may not seem like an everyday issue to a regular person, it indeed was an issue for pilots, as this freezing caused problems with an aircraft's stability.

The solution? Develop a protectant product that can be applied to an aircraft to prevent any condensation from sticking. And that's exactly what was done. In fact, while in development, the blueprint of the plane we first tested this new product on was #303...sound familiar?

This new product worked well, so well in fact that when it was given out as free samples to the general public, there was an overwhelming response from individuals who claimed to have used this product in many other new and creative ways...over 303 ways to be exact.

303® slowly became a hit with consumers, while also catching the eye of original equipment manufacturers in several industries. They discovered ways to use 303® in the manufacturing process to extend the life of their products, and in turn, made it their mission to recommend 303® as well. Just like that, 303® became a welcomed staple in other markets, including marine, auto, and outdoor living.

Since its inception, 303®'s Aerospace Protectant has been one of our flagship products. With the hundreds of ways to use 303® products, we are sure you will find one that works specifically for you. From auto to marine to patio furniture, 303® products provide only the highest level of protection, allowing the things you love to look new, while lasting longer.

ULTRA PLUSH MICROFIBER TOWELS

These premium towels are made with a combination of 80% polyester / 20% polyamide highly absorbent fibers, and have rolled seamless edges. The seamless edges prevent scratching, and won't fray over time. The edges stay stiff, which helps the towel keep its shape longer, and allows the corners to be used without crumpling – making it easier to get into those tight spaces/gaps that are difficult to reach. The edges also prevent streaking that you may see with other, lesser quality towels.

SKU #30901
